The Joseph Regenstein, Jr. School of the Chicago Botanic Garden

The mission of the Chicago Botanic Garden is to promote the enjoyment, understanding, and conservation of plants and the natural world.

Through the Joseph Regenstein, Jr. School of the Chicago Botanic Garden, the collections, professional expertise, and talents of the Garden's horticulturists, scientists, and educators are shared with colleagues in the plant sciences, conservation, landscape design, gardening, and botanical arts communities.

The Regenstein School of the Chicago Botanic Garden offers learning opportunities for green industry professionals through:

- Continuing education
- Professional programs
- Symposia
- Certificate programs
- Intern programs
- General interest courses

To register for classes or for more information, call the registrar at (847) 835-8261 or fax (847) 835-6874.
