

Lost & Found

Remnants of Savannas and Old-Growth Forests

Overview This traveling exhibition presents the work of landscape photographer Miles Lowry. Through his remarkable photographs, Lowry captures the grace and grandeur in what remains of the vast forests and savannas that once covered the eastern half of the United States. Since 2001, he has searched out and documented restored savannas and pockets of old-growth forests, focusing attention on these now-rare landscapes. His images are often presented as constructed panoramics—several square images combined into one multiple-framed composition.

Rental Fee $4,500 rental fee for a three-month period

Space Requirements Approximately 150–200 linear feet

Shipping Hosting venue is responsible for outbound shipping within the United States; international arrangements vary.

Components 24 sepia or black-and-white panels. Title, captions, and ID labels are available on file.

Themes Savanna and old-growth forest

Gallery Requirements Adjustable lighting that can highlight panels

Security Low; public access to building needs to be monitored.

Credit Line Lost & Found: Remnants of Savannas and Old-Growth Forests was organized by the Chicago Botanic Garden. All images by Miles Lowry. All images were made possible by the support of The Ceres Trust.

Availability Please call for availability.

Contact Gabriel Hutchison, Exhibitions and Programs Production Manager
Chicago Botanic Garden, 1000 Lake Cook Road, Glencoe, Illinois 60022
ghutchison@chicagobotanic.org
(847) 835-8290

Exhibit Website chicagobotanic.org/exhibitions/traveling

